

Knowledgeable. Accessible. Incomparable.

A public speaker since childhood, Kim Campbell is noted for her presence, intelligence, sense of humor and immediacy with her audience. See what others are saying about this extraordinary educator and leader.

“Kim Campbell's stature as a global leader never overshadows her connection with an audience, regardless of the size. They always feel like they've been personally engaged and inspired.”

--Barbara Nelson
Dean of UCLA School of Public Affairs

“Kim Campbell is one of the most brilliant, engaging and passionate speakers in Canadian political history. She is relevant, understands local, national and global community and speaks to current issues with historical knowledge. Our 350 guests at the 2009 Association of Women in Finance PEAK Awards left our gala and fundraising dinner having learned, laughed and listened with joy and ease. We highly recommend Kim as a keynote speaker for conventions to convocations and are grateful for her inspiration and support.”

--Raewyn Brewer
Association of Women in Finance PEAK Director 2009

“Kim Campbell has a remarkable gift of clarity. She speaks with knowledge, passion and honesty on a wide array of complex issues—from global warming to international affairs—while keeping the very human impact of these larger themes front and center. She has been an accessible and gracious guest speaker at the Chicago Public Library on two occasions—delivering the Albert Pick Jr. Lecture on International Relations and the kick-off keynote for Read Green, Live Green, the Library's ecology-focused Summer Reading Program. I highly recommend her!”

--Rhona Frazin
President & CEO
Chicago Public Library Foundation

“Kim Campbell was awesome! She wowed everyone that she met including 1400 luncheon guest and 150 girls following the luncheon. She really was fantastic. The e-mails have been all generously favorable. It was an honor and extreme pleasure to meet her and to have her as our 2007 Tribute Luncheon Speaker! Thanks Michael, you did it again. I hope that we can get a head start on next year. Women in Big Business, making big changes!”

-- Women's Foundation for a Greater Memphis

“Kim Campbell personifies what I believe makes the best leaders. She creates a sense of the possible, is open, accessible, very smart, has unique ideas, brings out the best in others. She has held the highest leadership roles in her country and today is on the global stage and in much demand. She has a great sense of humor, and a clear vision of the world. She cares deeply about women's leadership and generously reaches out to help and inspire others.”

--Laura Liswood
Secretary General
Council of Women World Leaders

- Fantastic! Interesting ideas.
- She made us think and we remembered her remarks throughout the conference. Great stuff. Thank you for your visions and ideas. Excellent speaker.
- Honourable Kim Campbell's view was very interesting - and a good grasp of politics.
- KC was very good - fascinating ideas to think about.
- Very powerful message. Appropriate for a growing number of women as Public Figures in government.
- Very thought provoking.
- Outstanding speaker.
- Excellent--an extraordinary woman.
- Good thoughts. Excellent discussion of the information management in public policy and government decision-making.

-- NASCIO 2003 Annual Conference

She spoke yesterday afternoon and it went real well. She made an excellent presentation at the convocation but was really good in the Q and A and in the more informal interaction at the Leadership Dinner last night. She was an excellent choice.

--Austin College

She is an INCREDIBLE lady...her program was phenomenal. It was an honor meeting her.

--Missouri State University

Kim Campbell co-chaired the Breakthrough Summit on April 13, 2008, at which WFDA was launched. 1.4 billion dollars of new commitments for the advancement of women and girls were announced. Together with Her Excellency Mary Robinson, Kim Campbell co-moderated the leadership dialogue the following day. As a result of her inspired leadership, 158 heads of Women, Faith, and Development organizations committed to a new collaboration. Kim's leadership is wise, assertive, creative, funny, and above all demonstrates an extraordinary talent for developing cross-constituency consensus.

--Jean Duff
Executive Director
Center for Interfaith Action on Global Poverty

It was a distinct honor and pleasure to have the Right Honorable Kim Campbell participate in The Leaders Project conference Women as Leaders of Change: New Thinking or Status Quo? Her involvement was vital to the enormous success of the conference. Ms. Campbell's perspective as a thought leader, in particular as chair of a session, Through Each Other's Eyes, was a tremendous contribution for which we are grateful.

--The Leaders Project

Kim Campbell is one of the most compelling, forceful and interesting lecturers that has ever spoken to our students at the Bulgarian School of Politics. Her captivating personality, her broad political experience, her knowledge of international affairs, her extraordinary ability to field questions with alacrity and respect for her audience, her sincerity, sense of humor and warmth, brought the house down. She is truly a unique guest speaker, and a rare person to know."

--Mr. J. Dimitry Panitza

Founder and Honorary Chair of the Bulgarian School of Politics, Sofia

Kim Campbell is a world-class speaker who has the ability to take a global issue and make it incredibly accessible for an audience by sharing her personal experiences as well as her social science expertise. Our Executive Session attendees were really inspired by her.

--Kristin Hafferty

Director of Women's Political Participation Programs
National Democratic Institute for Int'l Affairs

It's always an honour to have Former Prime Minister Campbell share her experience and insight with us. Our students as well as our community find her to be not only informative, but incredibly engaging. A young alumna who attended the Conversation event in London proclaimed herself as 'absolutely inspired' by her remarks.
